Main raw materials

Corrugated cardboard has unique compression and shock resistance properties, making it an ideal packaging material. It can withstand a certain amount of pressure, shock and vibration when packaging products, and play a protective role in the product.

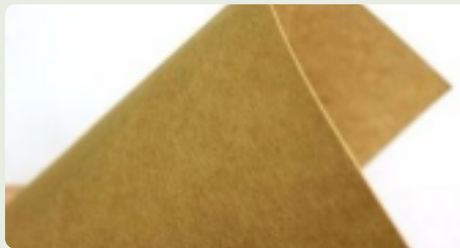

Food grade white cardboard is made from raw fiber and all used pulp is chlorine-free. It has smooth and uniform surface, and meets the safety requirements of food contact materials and articles.

Aqueous coating is a water-based,eco-friendly coating that dries quickly when applied to printed materials.This coating is clear but also has the capability to create a satin,soft-touch or glossy finish.

Coated kraft card paper is a eco-friendly material, it's also called natural brown kraft cardboard. The wood pulp fiber is not bleached and doesn't pollute the environment, the waste paper after packaging products can be recycled and beaten to produce paper, which can realize wireless recycling.

Kraft paper is a tough water resistant packaging paper, using imported bamboo pulp and wood pulp to processed carefully. There are three kinds include single-sided light, double-sided light and striped, with good strength and strong tension.

Wooden cutlery is a natural product,constructed from an abundant,renewable resource and it is 100% compostable.It' s perfect for food packaging as it is sturdy and resists both hot and cold temperatures.
